“May I ask you a personal question,” says Reddit user Dragos_Bui during our chat. “Why do you create?” I don’t like to get too close to this question, though it is important to analyze the reasons we create. For me, it is all about emotion and trying to portray the truth (sadness, anger, joy, etc.). Perhaps whether I work as an artist, digital artist or designer depends to some extent on how I see art and creative expression. Online, on Reddit, one can ask what seems to be serious questions in a way that is truly refreshing. What I provide here is an overview of some of the projects that I like. Bringing consciousness back to video rendering for mixed reality is what it seemed like when I first encountered Zanolab’s Second Reality (as well as what was presented in the Google Mixed Reality ). An interesting concept in theory, in reality it’s extremely hard to finish a product like this in an efficient and relatively inexpensive manner. Once I talked to Zanolab’s CEO about it, we realized our analysis was not that far off the expectation. The company’s first VR headset was intended to be a very high-end consumer product and they started to realize that the true use for a high-end spec VR headset for the consumer market would be for gaming. Zanolab’s use of Oled display panels, the foveated display and the recovery of the latency is very impressive in those two areas. Even so, the problem is that the Oled panels are expensive and the user cannot see true image recovery in low light conditions. Play at night with the company’s VR headset, and you’ll realize the need for additional illumination options, and why it’s important to have a camera. This basically ties into another one of my points regarding motion-controlled RGB lighting.

An app link opens your Mac App Store for those apps that aren't available in the Mac App Store. Users can also add or remove apps to their Home screen for quick access to them. The Photoshop desktop app, currently in version 20.4 updates today, adds breakthrough features powered by Adobe Sensei AI to create and share online visual presentations. The new presentation tools automatically create a slideshow presentation from a range of visual elements, including a video, images, text or smart objects. Users can choose to view the presentation in a sophisticated Satin browser window or export it to YouTube for high-resolution, high fidelity video. The advanced toolset delivers a range of usability enhancements, including one-click adjustments, or auto-enhance for the best-looking results.
